A similar Resolution was discussed at the February Session of the Legis. Council 1927, when the Dewan President remarked as follows:—

"I am afraid there is very little prospect of any further Constitutional Reforms as is imagined. But we shall certainly consider the advisability of appointing a Committee with a view to the improvement of the Rules. But to hold out hopes of any big Constitutional Reforms is not possible"

The Committee referred to above was also subsequently appointed & the revised rules framed by the Committee for R.A. & Legis. Council are now under consideration by Govt.

Submitted for orders.
